THE MISSOURI BOLTERS.

The troubles in the Rep[illegible] Republican party in Missouri, says the N. Y. Standard, have assumed a very serious aspect. There is a determined purpose, on the part of the Grat. Brown party, to alienate the supporters of the national administration, and thoughtlessly [illegible] Gen. Schurz proclaim [illegible] recent attention, the absence of any word in the platform recognizing and indorsing the President clearly indicates their policy. The holding of party nominations on local and State issues is bad enough; but when the [illegible] made the pretext for weakening a national organization, it is profamous. We hope that this ill-advised action, premeditated [illegible] may yet be reconsidered, and that a better temper and better counsels may prevail.

In this connection it is interesting to note that the St. Louis Republican (Democratic) came out yesterday morning for B. Gratz Brown for Governor and says: what we the promises of the Radicals who march under the banner of McClurg, they were bound to recognize them as the only legitimate heirs of the proscriptive party, whose head, Senator Drake, is now traversing the state, with the same malignant hatred to Democrats in his bosom as he manifested his counsel ever since the beginning of the rebellion.

This prompt endorsement of the bolters by a leading Democratic journal, shows the drift of the movement, and justifies the [illegible] of the President, that it is intended to carry over a portion of the Republican party to the ranks of the enemy. We have already remarked the demoralizing effect of refusing to recognize the recently expressed will of a majority of the party, and the very fact that these so-called independent movements always receive the encouragement of the Democrats, shows only disposition to weaken their adversaries, while the strengthen themselves should induce every true Republican to take his stand with those, who, in proportion to their devotion to the principles of our party, become more prominently the objects of Democratic hostility and denunciation.

We have been listening for a [illegible] from New Jersey, over the arrival of the sixty-eight Chinese laundrymen who have so ruthlessly grasped the smoothing-iron in Belleville; and now the telegraph announces that on Wednesday evening, a portion of the citizens of that afflicted town, gathered together and shouted to the four winds of Heaven their indignant protest against the introduction of any laundry, except by way of the Atlantic Ocean and Castle Garden. We dare say that a majority of these indignants retain a distinct remembrance of a century ago from Europe, and that they have become more familiar with the unaccustomed privileges afforded in this country, than with the grand principle which extends them alike to all, without regard to race nationality, or color.

U. S. STEAM FRIGATE GUERRIERE ASHORE. A Dispatch from Boston announces that the U. S. Steam Frigate Guerriere, bound from Portsmouth, N. H., to New York, with the remains of the late Admiral Farragut on board, went ashore on Great Point Rip, Nantucket at noon on Wednesday, in clear weather and [illegible] at the latest accounts. The dispatch states that she [illegible] and lost ashore. The steamer Island Home brought the body of Admiral Farragut to Hyannis, from whence it would be forwarded to Fall River and thence by boat to New York last night. The Island Home returned immediately to Hyannis, and the Underwriters' steamer Charles Marion and the tugboats at the Navy Yard had been notified and would leave at once for Nantucket.

WAR NOTES.

The Prussian occupation of Orleans renders the removal of the French government imperative. It is doubtful where they will go. There are objections urged against Toulouse on account of Prim's contemplated negotiations with Bismarck and the contiguity to the Spanish frontier.——A dispatch from Ferrier, is a manufactory of Prussian calumny for French consumption. Of this character is the alleged shooting of 200 Mobiles for disobedience of orders, and that the Empress has taken a fine house and grounds, Camden hurst, Midland, Dr. Evans, who accompanied her from France, in charge of her affairs. It is not true—the quitted Hastings for fear of annoyance by the people. On the contrary she was treated by all classes with profound respect, receiving daily presents and a quantity of bouquets. The greatest annoyance was from requests for interviews from impertinent reporters.——The Irish Times suggests that the ex-Emperor and his family be invited to settle in Ireland.——A Tribune special states that the gates of Sedan were occupied by the Germans at 8 p. m. on Wednesday. It is reported that the Italian troops who were driven to desperation succeeded on Tuesday in hoisting with the flag on the Cathedral, but Uhrich ordered it removed. The surrender was effected compulsorily by the pressure of the citizens and garrison.——A correspondent writing from Berlin on the 20th, says the official statement of German captures thus far, not including Leon, from Aug. 20, on which day Strasbourg was temporarily abandoned by the Prussians are as follows:

At Starbruck the French lost 6 officers and 67 privates. At Wissembourg, 40 officers and 1000 privates were made prisoners and 4 mitrailleuse, 22 cannon, 51 ammunitions and carriages of all kinds were captured. At Woerth, the Germans made 6000 prisoners, besides the officers, and took 2[illegible] mitrailleuses, 85 guns, 42 wagons and carriages, 200 horses and the baggage and camp furniture of two divisions and two railway trains with provisions. The same day the French lost at Spicheren, and during the days following the battles, in engagements at Beloch-hoten and Saarguemines, the Prussians captured 2500 prisoners, 4 guns, a portion of a train, a fortified camp and 2 magazines containing 10,000 woolen blankets, 40,000 sacks of rice, coffee and sugar, and also large quantities of wine, rum and tobacco, the latter alone amounting to half a millions thalers. The fortresses surrendered during the first half of August increased these figures as follows: At Hagenau, 3 officers, 105 privates, 80 horses and a large supply of arms. At Epelcelsburg, 3 officers, 280 privates, 7 guns, 150 muskets, 50,000 cartridges, &c. At Pfalzeburg, large quantities of arms and ammunition. At Marsar, 60 guns.

The three days' fighting at Metz do not show such large captures in men and material, because the enemy were able to save both under the guns of the fortress. Still, at Vionville the French lost in prisoners 40 officers and 2000 men, and at Gravelotte 21 officers and 3000 men. The loss in killed and wounded during the three days was 25,000, and with the fortress of Vitry 1 Francaise 17 officers, 850 privates and 10 guns were captured. The campaigns and battles at Nowart, Beaumont, and Sedan, previous to the capitulation at the latter place, resulted in taking about 30,000 prisoners, besides several eagles and a large number of guns. Beaumont alone cost the French 2000 prisoners, 2 eagles, 11 mitrailleuses, 28 guns and a fortified camp, and at Sedan they lost previous to the capitulation, 25 guns, 2 eagles and nearly 25,000 prisoners. Sedan gave the victors one Marshal of the Empire, 39 Generals, 2,30 officers of staff, 2906 the officers, 84,450 prisoners, besides 14,000 wounded; all the eagles of the regiments taken, 70 mitrailleuses, 556 field guns, 100 fortress guns and 10,000 horses. At Laon the loss is not reported, but will include 28 guns and many muskets. Add Toul, before reported, and the total will be 1 Marshal, 39 Generals, 3,359 officers, 103,950 privates, 10,280 horses, at least 56 eagles, 1,102 mitrailleuses, 887 field and fortress guns, over 400[illegible] competed for the prizes. The Sapho did not enter the race, but sailed over the course 20 miles to the windward, and returned in a shorter time than any of the others. The Cambria was the first one to reach the home stake boat. The wind was very light all day.

THE CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF THE SETTLEMENT OF BANGOR, September 30th, 1869. Published by direction of the Committee of Arrangements. Bangor: Benjamin A. Burr, Printer, 1870.

Through the politeness of Judge Humphrey, one of the Committee of publication, we have before us a handsomely gotten up volume of 180 pages with the above title, containing a full account of the Centennial celebration of the founding of Bangor, from the inception of the plan to its final carrying out, including the admirable historical address by Judge Godfrey, the speeches delivered and letters received from other gentlemen, and the poems written for the occasion. From a cursory examination, of the book, we judge that the Committee, under whose supervision the events and exercises of the day have been put in form to be preserved for future reference, have attended well to their duty, and made the most of the materials at their hands. Everyson of Bangor should possess at least one copy of it. For sale by D. Bugbee & Co., at $1.00 per copy.

Trust What Time has Sanctioned.

The maxim that the voice of the people is the voice of the divinity, may in some cases be open to doubt, but the testimony of honest and enlightened witnesses extending through a series of years, and all to the same purport is worthy of credence, admits of no question. Upon such testimony the reputation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as an antidote and cure for many ailments is based. During the twenty years that it has been before the world innumerable preparations intended to compete with it, have gone up like rockets, and come down the extinguished sticks. Meanwhile the progress of that incomparable tonic has been swift and steady—always upward and onward like the eagle's flight. Its introduction produced a revolution in therapeutics, and it proved to be one of those salutary revolutions that cannot go backwards. To-day Hostetter's Bitters is one of the most popular remedies in christendom, and commands a larger sale than any other medicinal preparation, domestic or imported, on this side of the Atlantic. As a cure for dyspepsia, bilious disorders, nervous affections, general debility, and as a preventive of epidemic fevers, it takes precedence of every other remedy. This fact should teach the ambitious country dealers who endeavor to foist their local abortions on the public in its stead, how futile their small attempts to jostle the community must necessarily be. Where the game fish have failed there is no chance for the suckers.

THE WAR IN EUROPE.

ANOTHER WAR CLOUD.

Russia Moving to the Frontier.

The Rhine, Not the Bosphorus.

FORMAL PROTEST OF RUSSIA.

Excitement in the English Cabinet.

More Balloon Specials.

ANOTHER WAR CLOUD—RUSSIA MOVING TROOPS TO THE PRUSSIAN FRONTIER—ANXIETY IN BERLIN.

New York, Sept 29. The World's London special says that Russia's warlike preparations are against Germany, not the Bosphorus. This information is confirmed by private advices and there is great alarm and uneasiness at Berlin. The following troops of the Russian army have been stationed along the Prussian frontier during the past three weeks: Twelve divisions of infantry of the guard, under Lieut Gen Baron Salbweskey, three divisions of grenadiers of the guard under Lieut Gen Prince Mouravaroff, one division of cavalry of the guard under Gen Prince Galitzine, twelve divisions of infantry of the line under Lieut Gen. Von Egger; five divisions of cavalry of the line, Lieut Gen. Count Von Krez, two parks of engineers and twelve parks of artillery, under Lieut. Gen. Kuyschoff.

It is also announced that a force of 150,000 Cossacks have been called under arms and that the squadron of the Baltic is ready for active service.

A GLOW FROM THE NORTHERN BEAR—RUSSIA TO DEFEND THE EQUILIBRIUM OF EUROPE.

The Russian Minister at Berlin has been instructed to present a formal demand to Prussia, declaring it to be quite impossible that Russia can regard it as a question solely to be decided between Germany and France what the limits of either power shall be, and that the future of Russia, not less than the past, makes it the duty of the Russian Government to protest against and if necessary to prevent any change in the equilibrium of Europe which would embrass the freedom of action of the Russian Government. And particularly that Russia will never suffer the treaties of the European States to be disturbed in obedience to a subversive and perverse doctrine of nationalities, so called.

ANOTHER SOPE TONE OF THE RUSSIAN PRESS.

The Lios of Moscow, says that the Eastern question can wait. There is no pressing necessity in that quarter. It is on the Rhine, today that the Knot of the Eastern question waits to be cut at one decisive blow.

The St. Petersburg Gazette de la Bourse says Prussia, with the exception of the aids of France guaranteed and nationalized, with Austria to protect her southeastern flank, will be in a position to dispose of all her strength as to check and easily paralyze the action of Russia. In the presence of so great an inferiority Russia must and will provide, and provide at once, against any possible future.

London, Sept 29. The Moscow Gazette says that Russia loses power because France is no longer a counterpoise to Prussia, who is now able to assault her neighbors with impunity.

A BRITISH CABINET COUNCIL.

has been called for Thursday in consequence of urgent dispatches from Lord Lyons who beseeches England to interfere and compel peace before all Europe is set in flames.

London, Sept. 29. The military preparations of Russia are proceeding on a gigantic scale. There is great activity everywhere.

PRUSSIAN OPINIONS.

Berlin 29. Three opinions prevail in Germany in regard to the question of the terms of peace.

One party agrees with Bismarck that the war ought not to stop until Alsace and Lorraine, including the fortified city of Metz, are annexed to Germany, without the consent. Another party demand that Metz and Strasbourg be dismantled merely, and that France indemnify Germany for the cost of the war. A third party limits the territorial demand to Alsace and a narrow strip of Lorraine in the East, where the German is still the prevailing language. The Cologne Gazette favors the latter plan.

London 29. Some of the Paris papers accuse Favre of having acted upon a private understanding with Bismarck.

INTERFERENCE IN LYONS—ARREST OF GENERAL CLUSERET.

Lyons 29. Gen Cluseret, heading the revolution, forced his way into the town hall today, harranguing the people. The National Guard instantly arrested him and his adherents without bloodshed.

Clermont has been captured and Scissons surrounded.

WURTEMBURG.

London 29. The Wurtemburg Gazette, official organ, denies that it is the intention of the Government to enter into the North German Confederation.

The active friendship between the Prussian and Austrian Cabinets is remarked.

A writer in to-day's Post hopes that England will not be sacrificed to her cousins, but will denounce the Prussian barbarism in the conduct of the war.

London 29. The Telegraph has

A BALLOON SPECIAL

from Tours, dated Wednesday evening, representing the Prussians retiring towards Paris, and that great confidence existed in Paris.

A SORTIE FROM METZ.

The Times this morning has a special as follows:—

Tuesday, 27th, the French made another sortie from Metz. The forces consisted of cavalry and artillery, and were protected by the guns of forts Quentin and Battles. The French advanced to Ars le Queux, where the Prussians were encountered. Another severe conflict ensued, which resulted in the defeat of the French, though they carried off their dead and wounded and all the Prussian prisoners captured. The village was burned by the shells.

THE PRUSSIAN HEADQUARTERS

are given as follows. King William at Ferrieres, the Crown Prince at Versailles and the Prince of Saxony at Grand Tremblay.

Carrier pigeons are now the only messenges between Paris and Tours, as balloons offer too fair a mark to the Prussian riflemen.

SEVERE ON BISMARCK.

Brussels 29. The Independence Belge referring to Bismarck's anonymous contradiction of Favre's statement, says that Favre must be met by statements which are signed and signed by everybody more truthful than Bismarck.

Tours 29. The report having reached here of the capture of Strasbourg, the government this morning publishes a dispatch from the French Consul at Basle contradicting it. The Consul says that the Prussians had made three tremendous but unsuccessful assaults on Strasbourg, for which they suffered heavy losses. The white flag which was subsequently displayed as a truce to bury the dead, gave rise to the rumor that the city had capitulated.

The communication is out in all directions, and the fall of Strasbourg is by no means impossible. Notwithstanding the denial of the Consul at Basle, there is a strong belief that the rumor is not altogether groundless.

London, Sept. 29. The French garrison at Strasbourg has been removed to Rastadt as prisoners of war. The Prussians have already occupied the town. The citadel and the bridge to Kehl have been restored. The Prussian Generals are to enter the city today. Three batteries have been established at Place de Kleber.

Tours, Sept. 29. It is announced that dispatch balloons will be sent up from Paris daily.

Advices received to day from the capital report the success for the besieged in various minor engagements. The Mobile Guards behaved extremely well under fire.

The removal of the government from Tours is no longer talked of.

The following dispatches have been received by the Minister:

Orleans, Sept. 29. The enemy, who yesterday, was at the fire station on the railway, north of this city, appear to be retiring. It is believed that the most of a serious check near Paris occasioned their retreat.

Bellegard, Sept. 28. It is reported that Pithiviers has been evacuated by the Prussians, who have withdrawn in the direction of Etampes.

Nemours, Sept. 23. At Chapelle la Reine, the Prussian post was captured by the French Troops after the departure of the Prussians. The Prussians returned to the place, burned some dwellings and exacted a contribution of 10,000f. The French Tireurs also captured a convoy of munitions on its way to the Prussian forces in the neighborhood.

Mezieres, Sept. 28, via London, 29. An armistice has been concluded with the Prussian forces around this town and it will probably continue until Oct. 7.

Verdun is besieged, but the Prussians have made no strong demonstrations against the place.

Special to N. Y. Sun:—

Lyons, Sept. 23, via London, 29. The Southern League of the Independent associations of the different southern departments of France is growing stronger every day and a formidable army will be organized before long with Lyons and Marseilles as the leaving points. Do not believe a single word about the flag and mob in this city. I never saw more perfect order, and it reigns under the red flag.

Special to N. Y. Times:—

London, Sept 29. I have it from well-informed quarters that the pressure brought to bear upon the English Ministry, by men like Sir Henry Bulwer, on one hand, and deputations from the Radical party on the other, is producing an effect upon the Government, which is likely to depart from its policy of abstention from active mediation. The working classes favor the determined effort to stop the war.

It is curious to see that while the monied men of the city are against any interference all the military and naval men are loud in their expressions of indignation, because no effort is made by England to save France.

Our Hamburg correspondent states that the reserve corps of 80,000 men passed thro' Frankfort this morning to reinforce the Prussian armies in France.

A great deal of typhus fever prevails in the German hospitals. The wounded are being removed from contagion.

ITALY.

Rome, Sept 29. Cardinal Pericoli has gone to Florence on a second mission to King Victor Emanuel from the Pope.

Rome 29. Cardinal Capazzi has been appointed Secretary of State for the Pope, in place of Antonelli, resigned.

The mob yesterday entered and plundered the printing office of the Osservatore. The Pope has addressed to the King of Italy a protest against the outrage.

THE CHANGING YEAR.

Ant floating year, that will not pause a day,
To leave a picture of thy changeful mood!
Glories scarce shown and seen, and mingled away
Of sunset, rippling rose, fields, and woods.
The early blossoms have the rugged thorn;
The purple lilacs wither in the lanes;
The violet's breath, sweet for one April morn,
Is stifled in dead leaves and drowning rains.

The chrome-gold dandelion stars of spring
Burn out in hazy noons ere June is passed;
Too soon the hidden thrushes cease to sing—
Too soon the summer leaves hear autumn's blast.

And ere we know, the locust's long drawn fret
Swells in the August noon—the nights grow cool
And see-saw katydids fortell thoughtfully
Of leafless forest-lands of joy past.

And flaunting golden-rods and cardinal flowers,
And drooping, pale-pink homlocks skirt the streams
And sighing winds give warning, and the lazy
Of sunshine wrapt in cloudy twilights gleams.

Yet paint thy pictures, Time, and sing thy songs
Thy pictures fade—thy songs die on the air;
Thou canst not take what to the soul belongs—
Beauty's immortal essence everywhere.

A GERMAN WAR SONG.

By Ferdinand Freiligrath, translated for the N. Y. Evening Post:

GO WELL IN FIRE.

As the wolf of Assyria gleaming in night,
Swept into the folds of Judea by night,
As the Persian, who fattened the ocean, then poured
On the bright plains of Greece his barbarian horde

As the Ass, like an arrow that Parthay speeds,
Swept down on the South, with his human beasts steeds,
As the Spanish Armada, "invincible" sailed,
Her arrogant rage against England proclaimed;

As the Cossacan uncle, in countless array,
Tod out his battalions to Russia away,
As his bloody pavilion he built on the dead,
And fancied himself the world's ruler and head;

So the Corsican nephew, the heir of that dream,
Seeks to conquer the banks of the German's own stream,
With bramblest of maces and with ringing of sword,
He would give the Rhine vineyards a prey to his horde.

The Turco, the Spahi, the prop of his throne
Like himself are hyenas and jackals in one;
Who howl to the whining of tyranny's steel
Thy free song of Freedom, O Rouget de Lisle!

From the Saar to the Nieckar men listen to fear,
And hands unstrung tremble in London and Trier
Faith mother the nursing cub hiding in her
Is her bosom—but, darlings, away with your dread!

Let to guard you from harm come all German virtue
For thousands of thousands stand forward as one;
Like a storm, on they dare on, like a wolfing nature
Their might,
Bringing ruin to tyrants, to people their sight!

So now shall it end! The Assyrian host
The Persian, the Hun, in one day each was lost:
They vanished, their splendor, the night of their Ahasuerus—!
The Armada went down at a breath from the Lord,
And him, too, the boaster, who grasped the world's crown,
God—butter and fire make a league to tear down
Only one day of patience, and let as fate calls
This trembler, this troused Zouave, the thunder-bolt fallen!

TRANSPLANTING FRUIT TREES.—As many who are not accustomed to the nursery or fruit-growing have occasion to plant trees, we have collected from reliable sources suggestions which will greatly aid them in their work.

The Preparation of the Soil.—For fruit trees the ground should be dry, either naturally or made so by thorough drainage, as they will not thrive on a soil constantly saturated with stagnant moisture. It should also be well prepared by using the subsoil plow after the common one. On now, fresh lands, manuring will be unnecessary; but on lands exhausted by cropping fertilizers must be applied, either by turning in heavy crops of clover, or well decomposed manure or compost. To ensure a good growth of fruit trees, land should be in as good condition as for a crop of wheat, corn, or potatoes.

The Preparation for the Trees.—In regard to this important operation, there are more fatal errors committed than in any other. As a general thing, trees are placed in the ground precisely as they are sent from the nursery. In removing a tree, no matter how carefully it may be done, a portion of the roots are broken and destroyed, and consequently the balance that existed in the structure of the trees is deranged. This must be restored by pruning, adapted to the size, form, and condition of the tree.

Pruning Standard Orchard Trees.—These as sent from the nursery, vary from five to eight feet in height, with naked stems or trunks, and a number of branches at the top forming a head. These branches should be all cut back to within three, or four buds of their base. This lessens the demand upon the roots, and enables the remaining buds to push with vigor. In the case of older trees of extra size, the pruning must be in proportion; as a general thing, it will be safe to shorten all the previous year's shoots to three or four buds at their base, and where the branches are very numerous, some may be cut out entirely.

Planting.—Dig holes, in the first place, large enough to admit the roots of the tree to spread out in their natural position. Then having the tree pruned as above directed, let one person hold it in an upright position and the other shovel in the earth, carefully putting the finest and best from the surface in among the roots, filling every interstice, and bringing every root in contact with the soil. When the earth is nearly filled in, a pail of water may be thrown on to settle and puddle in the earth around the roots; then fill the remainder, and tread gently with the foot. The use of water is seldom necessary, except in dry weather, early in fall or late in spring. Guard against planting too deep; the trees, after they ground settles, should stand in the respective as they did in the nursery. Trees of dwarf stocks should stand so that all the stock be under the ground, and no more. In very dry, gravelly ground, the holes should be dug twice the usual size and depth, and filled in with good loamy soil.

Staking.—If trees are tall and much exposed to winds, a stake should be planted with the tree, to which it should be fastened in such a manner as to avoid chafing. A piece of matting or cloth should be put between the stake and the tree.

Mulching.—When the tree is planted, throw around it as forms the roots extend and a foot beyond, five or six inches deep of rough manure or litter. This is particularly necessary in dry ground, and is highly advantageous everywhere, both in spring and fall planting. It prevents the ground from breaking or cracking, and maintains an equal temperature about the roots.

After Culture.—The grass should not be allowed to grow around young trees after being planted, as it stunts their growth and robbing rains them. The ground should be kept clean and loose around them, until at least they are of bearing size.—Mirror and Farmer.

AN IRREVERENT PARODY.—A clever parody on Victor Hugo's late address to the Prussian invaders closes as follows: "Conditions hold back; Paris is indeed formidable. Think before its walls. It is better than fighting. All transformations are possible to hope. Yesterday she was a monkey, to-day she is a man, to-morrow she may be a gorilla. She seems to sleep. 'Tis but the seeming. She either drunk or playing possum. Her hatred will rise like the forest monarchs of Argonnes. Her tooth pick will leap from its scabbard like a sword; and this city, which yesterday was Paris, to-morrow may be Pekin or Porkopolis. Tigor!"

TO COOK VEGETABLES.—A German professor says that if one portion of a vegetable be boiled in pure distilled or rain water, and another in water to which a little salt has been added, a decided difference is perceptible in the tenderness of the two. Vegetables boiled in pure water are vastly inferior in flavor. This inferiority may go so far, in the case of onions, that they are almost entirely destitute of either taste or odor; though when cooked in soft water, in addition to the pleasant salt taste, had a peculiar sweetness, and nible matter than when cooked in pure water. Water which contains one-twentieth of its weight in salt is far better for cooking vegetables than pure water, because the salt, hinders the solution and evaporation of the flavoring principles of the vegetables.

DIVINE RIGHT.—King William was crowned on the 16th of October,—1861. In an address delivered on the 15th he said: "The rulers of Prussia receive their crown from God. To-morrow, therefore, I shall take the crown from the Lord's table, and place it on my head. This is the meaning of the expression 'King by the grace of God,' and defines the sanctity of the crown, which is inviolable." At the appointed time the King placed the "golden round of sovereignty" upon his own head, with the remark, "I wear this crown by the favor of God, and nobody else."

FRUIT STAINS.—They are easily removed if attended to at once, but if left to dry for a day or two it will be a more difficult work. Stretch the stained spot tightly over a deep bowl or pail and pour over it boiling hot water, letting it filter through until the stain disappears. The water must be really boiling, not simply scalding. If the article has been thrown into suds before looking after the stains, the hot water will not destroy them. In that case, wet the stain, and while wet spread over the spot some chloride of lime, lay the piece on the grass or hang on the line.

VALUABLE Timber Lands And Mill Property FOR SALE.

THE subscriber, desirous of disposing of all his interests in Timber Lands and mills, will sell on favorable terms the following:

One-Half Township No. 3, Range 4, Oxford County.

The whole township contains twenty-six thousand (26,000) acres, is heavily timbered with spruce, estimated at sixty to eighty millions of lumber, is within near and easy hauling distance of the Magalloway River and its branches, which runs through the town, or Parmachenee Lake, which is entirely within its limits.

Also 10,000 Acres of Land in the Town of Byron, Oxford Co., well covered with large Spruce timber. Soil, clay and its branches run through it, and it is bounded on the north by the Andrescoggin below Rumford Falls.

Also 1100 Acres Timber and Wood Land in the Town of Gorham, N. H., two miles above the Alpine House, on the line of the Grand Trunk Railroad, and the banks of the Androscoggin river. There is a large quantity of ancient timber on these lots, which, from its inaccessibility to railroad, is steadily increasing in value.

Also 2500 Acres Lands in the Towns of Albany and Stoneham, near the village of North Waterford, Oxford County. This land is covered with thrifty growing pine timber, standing near Crooked River, through the tract. Logs can be driven down to Sacoarappa, only a few miles; they can be put into the Saco. There is a mill privilege, with a single saw mill on the river, distance of a mile and a half; also, a mile to the railroad at South Paris two miles off. This is valuable for cutting purposes after being allowed to lay timber.

Also 435 Shares of Stock in the Lewiston Steam Mill Company, the whole capital stock being represented by 435 shares; the property of the company consists of a Steam Saw Mill capable of manufacturing one million feet of long lumber, with a set of clapboard, shingles and lath machines, all in the city of Lewiston, which is located for building purposes, and thirty acres of water lot, well located on the Androscoggin river and water privileges, from which but a small quantity of the timber has been cut.

WOMAN.

Females, owing to the peculiar and important relations which they sustain, their peculiar organization, and the offices they perform, are subject to many sufferings. Freedom from these contribute in no small degree to their happiness and welfare, for none can be happy who are ill. Not only so, but no one of these various female complaints can long be suffered to run on without involving the general health of the individual, and are long producing premature sickness and premature decline. Nor is it pleasant to consult a physician for the relief of these delicate infections, and only upon the most urgent necessity will a true woman sacrifice her greatest charm as to do this. The sex will then thank us for placing in their hands a simple specific which will be found efficacious in relieving and curing almost every one of these troublesome complaints peculiar to the sex.

Hundreds suffer on in silence, and hundreds of others apply vainly to druggists and doctors, who either merely tantalize them with the hope of a cure or apply remedies which make them worse. I would not wish to assert anything that would do injustice to the afflicted, but I am obliged to say that although it may be profited from excessive exhaustion of the powers of life, by laborious employment, unwholesome air, and food, profuse menstruation, the use of tea and coffee, and frequent child-birth, it is far oftener caused by direct irritation, applied to the mucous membrane of the vagina itself.

When reviewing the causes of these distressing complaints, it is most painful to contemplate the attendant evils consequent upon them. It is but simple justice to title subject to enumerate a few of the many additional causes which also largely affect the life, health, and happiness of woman. I will enumerate directly, the welfare of the entire human family in society, and which, consequently, all a more or less direct, the existence of precocious education and marriage causes, the years that nature designed for corporeal development to be wasted and perverted in the mistakes of dress, the commencement of school, and especially in the unhealthy excitement of the ball-room. Thus, with the body half clothed, and the mind unduly excited by pleasure, preparing in midnight revels the hours designed by nature for sleep, and rest, the work of destruction is half accomplished.

In consequence of this early strain upon the system, unnecessary effort is required by the laws of nature to recall her situation in school at a later day, thus aggravating the evil. When once so formed is over, another is prospective keeps the mind in a highly sensitive state of impression, while the nervous system restraint of fashionable dress, absolutely forbids the exercise indispensable to the attainment and retention of organic health and strength, the exposure to night air, the sudden change of temperature, the complete prostration produced by excessive dancing, must, of necessity, produce the climax of misery, and the unfortunate victim, worn down to utterly regardless of the pitiable condition of her delicate nature, become an unwilling subject of medical treatment.

Hundreds of the very choicest of our land are at this moment suffering from the effects of the early indiscretions of their youth.

Confidence in the ability to correctly treat the functional and organic diseases of the female system, composed of many of the most delicate and complicated organs in the human system, is common with the female sex, and is, evidently under the control of medical men, and we shall make no apology now, for the introduction of a remedy to all future ages, which has long before puberty, to the end of life, from infancy to extreme old age, will find it a remedy to all future ills in the change of life, from infancy to extreme old age, will find it a remedy to all future ills in the change of life, from infancy to extreme old age, will find it a remedy to all future ills in the change
